

HARRY DOHERTY.

SET CARPENTER

ABOUT ME.

hello.

My names Harry, I'm a set carpenter. Based in Brighton but always traveling around the world for work. I've been busy touring with teams, working alongside artists like Royal Blood, Rag 'n' Bone Man, and Robbie Williams.

Quickly adapting to the job, I've become skilled in various staging techniques, from All Access builds to Tait systems. My carpentry expertise covers everything from repairs to managing large crews efficiently.

Collaboration is key for me, as I thrive on working with other departments to speed up build times.

Reliability is key to my work. I'm punctual, communicative, and consistently perform well, earning the trust of my team and fostering a positive environment.

Festival Tours

During a festival tour, I'm the go-to for setting up the stage and solving any problems that pop up. Ensuring the show stays safe and runs smoothly from start to finish. From building the backdrop to troubleshooting maintenance issues, my job is to make sure the show happens seamlessly, leaving audiences to enjoy the performance uninterrupted.

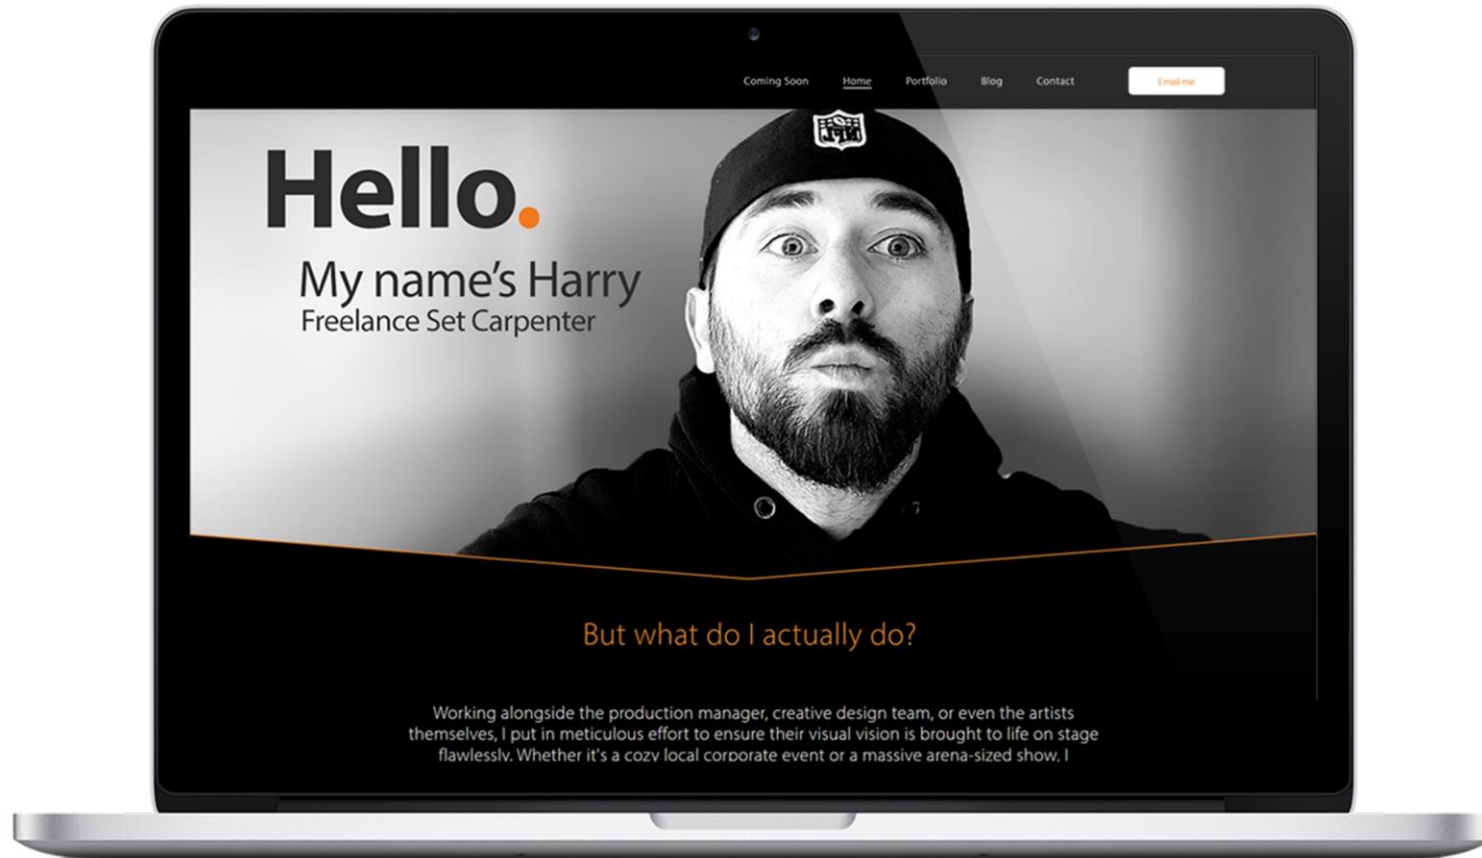

Arena Tours

I'm responsible for constructing and maintaining the entire stage setup, ensuring it withstands the massive scale of each performance. From building towering sets to ensuring every prop is in its perfect place, I work tirelessly behind the scenes to create a captivating experience for thousands of eager fans night after night.
